Togetherness is ... working with others

Two tiny children are running together in the park. One hand is black, one is white.

Together they share each other's hurts, each other's happiness, and each other's being.

As each child grows their love will be, sadly, losing its foundation.

They will become aware of the "real world, "

In our society, they'll learn that people are not together, as they were meant to be by God.

It is for us to decide on the first step toward togetherness.

Will we take that important step, thus ending this broken-bridged world?

"We feel that if we had worked together in small groups earlier, we would have had better group dynamics, and freer discussion. Of course, this seminar has been the first of its kind, and there are some flaws in the organization of the activities. At future gatherings of students here at the Europahaus, more learning can be accomplished, and even better German-American relations can be established."

Political-economic involvement

In autumn, 1972, nineteen students from Mr. Emanuel Raab's U. S. Government classes attended a week-long political-economic seminar at the invitation of the Europahaus in Bad Marienberg, Germany. From November 6-10, they and a German class from Alsfeld participated in lectures and discussions on such topics as West European Unity and the Common Market, East European Unity, and Comparisons of U. S. and German Governmental Structure. One highlight of the week's activities was an afternoon field trip to Bonn to visit the German governmental chambers. All during the week, the Americans and Germans formed new friendships and overcame "national character" differences. As the week drew to a close and the American students departed the Europahaus for Nuernberg, both they and the Germans hoped to meet again in the spring at another seminar in France.

Berlin: a second journey

In early January, students from the Contemporary Problems classes embarked on a long-planned trip to Berlin. The students encountered first-hand the major trouble spot of the Cold War era. The seniors visited the Museum of Egyptology and saw relics of ancient Nile River civilizations. They viewed the location where just a few days before, Martin Bormann's body had been discovered. The most important part of their stay was their visit to the Berlin Wall; several students were even allowed to enter East Berlin for a short while. One of the seniors said: "It was really sad to see the people on the East side; I remember one old woman who acted like she was washing windows, but we all could tell she was waving to us."

Restructured Student Council works to promote student involvement

President Alan Maloney (above) and Vice President Marlon Riggs (right) ran on the same ticket in the May '72 election. And they've been running ever since....

"Are we representing the students as best as we can?" This was the thought foremost in the minds of the four student council officers as they got together in the summer of 1972 to revise their constitution. These newly elected officers thought about and decided that their organization would be more effective if the constitution allowed each class to elect five voting members, shifting the homeroom representatives to a non-voting status. The officers proudly presented this constitution for approval at the beginning of the school year.

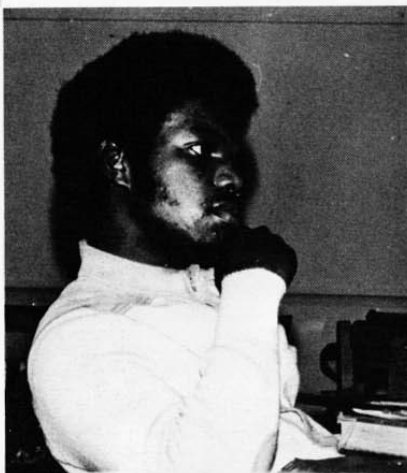

Registration of the students in mid-August was the next task, followed closely by the traditional "Get-Acquainted Dance" in September. The new Council members decided to rename this dance the "No-Occasion Dance" as the time for getting acquainted had long passed.

By now the Council had a full complement of one figurehead, six officers, and twenty senators. With Homecoming getting closer weeks were filled with planning. The Junior-Senior Powder-Puff Football game, the presentation and coronation of the Royal Court, and the Homecoming Dance were topped with victories by the football teams and the cross country team.

Once again the Council was free to perform their real duty as a student government: representing the students.

Led by President Alan Maloney and Vice President Marlon Riggs, the Student Council tackled many existing problems: Who is authorized to sell refreshments during snack break? What can we do about the litter problem in the dorm smoking area? How can we stop student theft at Foodland? Why is the quality of food in the cafeteria so poor? Will there ever be a change in the school time schedule? The students now know that their questions and major complaints are being considered and dealt with. The future is optimistic.

Assistant Vice President Ken Tinsman offers another of his annual Bulletin Board Reports.

Heidi Prisk took an active part in the Student Council as secretary until she graduated after the first semester.

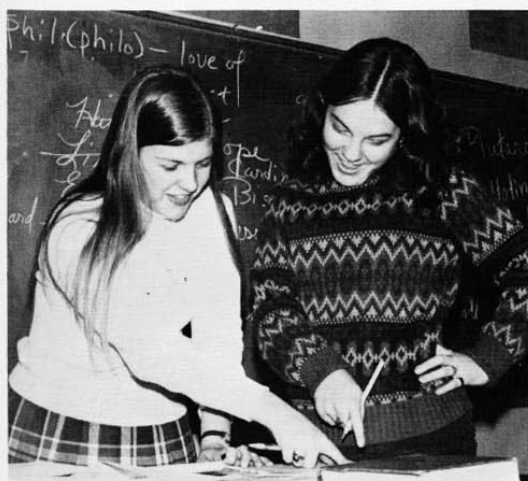

Marlon is carefully watched as he schedules activities on the "official calendar".

Shelley Flippen, besides being treasurer, and making money for the council, promotes other council activities.

Jackie, Ken, Alan, (introducing Parliamentarian) Chris Reyes, and Marlon gather around Miss East to discuss ever-present problems. Miss East (left), council sponsor, has assisted with appropriate advice and deserves admiration for her courage and perseverance.

Carmen Kandrach and Jackie Walker became secretaries upon the resignation of Heidi Prisk. Carmen records meeting minutes while Jackie is responsible for council correspondence.

New clubs and activities created for junior high students

An active junior high faculty has complimented the efforts of this year's junior high student council by providing sponsorship for lunch-time activities. Mr. Ed Mantel provides students with an opportunity to learn speed reading. Sports and other games are available in Mr. Tony Grana's room and in the gym. The Stamp and Coin Club meets with Mr. George Sibold. During the mid-morning class break, refreshments are available to students through a self-supporting venture directed by Mrs. Caron Touliatos and Mrs. Hattie Terrell.

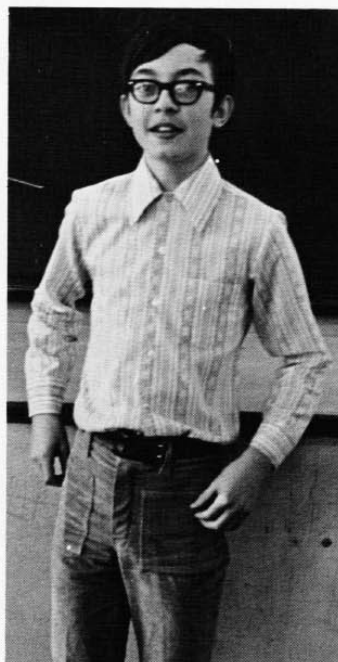

Nancy Muth enjoys Speed Reading.

"I sure hope this move works!"

"Checkmate in two moves."

Active is the word for the 1972-73 Junior High Student Council, guided by Mr. Larry Mathern along with In-Council advisor, Mr. Lucius Drake and funds advisor, Mr. Bill Yost. Using parliamentary procedure, a representative and an alternate were elected from each junior high social studies class. From this representative body were elected President George Terrell; Vice-President Chris Johnson; Secretary Cindy Garcia; Treasurer Denise Shelby; and Sergeant at Arms Eddie Spann. Planning activities for their peers (the purpose of the council) is done by the officers and the representatives or their alternates.

Among the events was a dance with a live band. To fund this event students, with the help of Mrs. Hattie Terrell (mother of President Terrell), sold refreshments at the dance. Bake sales provided snacks during the mid-morning class break and funded student activities. More funds were raised by selling chocolate bars stamped with the Nuernberg crest.

Plans are being made for the third annual Olympic games. The tug of war and minor track events will be repeated this year because of last year's popularity. Competition will be on a grade level basis.

ACTIVITIES

NHS Secretary Cindy Perry; Treasurer Barb Allen; Vice-President Doris Bukantis.

The National Honor Society is composed of students from grades ten through twelve whose eligibility for induction is based on grade-point averages and faculty recommendation. The object of the society is to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service to others, to promote leadership and to encourage the development of character in the students of Nuernberg American High School.

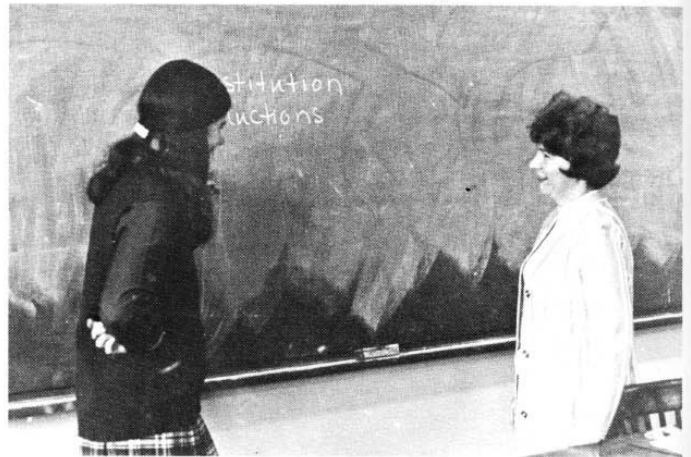

Induction into the honor society takes place with a formal ceremony once each year. (Inductees are not made aware of their acceptance into the society until they are "tapped" in the induction ceremony.) Speeches on the society's essential qualities of character, scholarship, leadership, and service are given by the society's officers, and a different colored candle is lighted during each speech. The inductees take an oath to uphold these qualities after they have been "tapped". Members receive a card and a scroll or pin. A reception for parents, faculty and members follows the ceremony.

Contributing to the support of Tara Wadraj, an Indian child who maintains regular correspondence with her friends, is one of the group's major projects. Members wash cars and sell baked goods to raise money for this endeavor.

An organization such as an honor society is essential to any high school, for it gives the impetus and incentive for high achievement in all areas of campus life.

"So that's how they initiate new members....." muses Carmen.

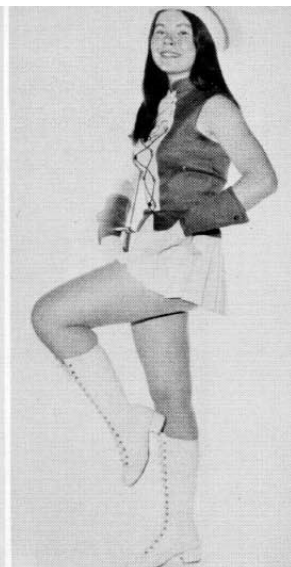

NHS President Colleen Campbell and sponsor Miss Johnson.

Host nation interaction

With Germany as our host nation, it has only been natural for the American youth of Nuernberg to become involved with Germans in various activities. The school outlet for German-American activities is the German-American Club. Sponsored by Miss Hill, the club promotes friendship between American and German youth by visiting German schools, inviting German students to visit NAHS, and helping German orphanages. Three NAHS'ers became active with Fasching in Fuerth this year. Along with excursions to Bad Marienburg and Berlin, field trips to Rothenburg, Chiemsee, Kronach, Coburg, Munich and the Kristkindlesmarkt have furthered German-American interaction.

Clubs bring a touch of France and Spain to NAHS

Cindy Perry and Mrs. Vieira make plans for Paris trip.

Cindy, Chuck, Maria, Carmen: Official French invasion force.

¿Habla Usted Español? One need not know the answer to the question nor even be fluent in Spanish to participate in such Club de Español activities as bake sales, a piñata raffle, Valentine cookie sales, and selling photos of couples at the Sweetheart Ball. Learning Spanish culture and customs and promoting Spanish-American relations are goals of the club.

Treas. Hultgren and V.P. Hoke play Don Quixote and Sancho.

The French Club, under the direction of Mrs. Victoria Vieira, has been revitalized. The club, guided by president Cindy Perry, is endeavoring to acquaint students with the customs and culture de la france. Assisting Miss Perry with her duties are des officers qui sont; Carmen Kandrack, vice president; Maria Reinstra, secretary; and Chuck Mailo, treasurer.

Ambrosia à la francais for the bake sale? Just another means par excellence for helping members purchase that billet de Paris for that proposed journey. Bon Voyage et Bonne Chance!

Spanish Club sponsors Mrs. Vieira (l) and Miss Kellock (r).

Pres. Tammy James (l) calls the Spanish Club to order. Secretary Rhonda Morgan (r) examines a Spanish fan.

"Ho hum! Another typical argument on the floor," comments Linda Weldon to Sharon Tracy, Martha Cruz, and Cindy Birk.

The high school's advanced band provides an outlet for musical talent.

"Was that a 'B' natural?" wonder Ann Hein, Richard Ruben, and Margie Covert.

... to soothe the savage beast

The mixed chorus offers young men and women an opportunity for togetherness in vocal expression.

Marc Bryant and Wally Borden add a little flavor to the music with their licorice sticks.

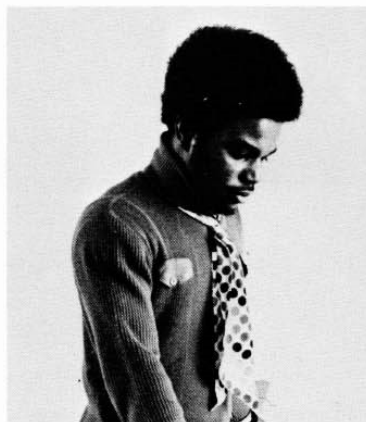

The junior high chorus sings Christmas carols to the community.

The Afro-American Club ...

Vice-President Cecilia McNear says, "It's gonna be a bright, sunny day!" (In March she became the new Miss Black Unity.)

Pres. Marlon Riggs wonders if he'll make it through the next meeting.

Past Treasurer Val Williams keeps it straight for the record.

Corresponding Secretary Gayle McKinley also reads the minutes.

AAC's sponsor, Mr. Houston Jack, finds it difficult to be stern with Sec. Sharon Harrington.

Sgts-at-arms Mike Houston and Sparky Strother get it all together.

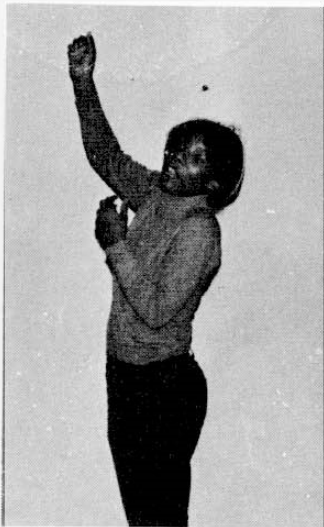

A new happenin' arrived at the Nuernberg American High scene this year; the formation of the Afro-American Club. The club strives to instill more personal pride and self-confidence in Black students and to promote understanding between the members of all races. The club's theme, Black Unity, reminds members that they are calling for the togetherness of all Black students here at NAHS.

Fred Huff and Funk, Inc. and the Powerful Tramps propelled the Afro-American Club into being early in the school year with a benefit concert at the Kalb Community Theater. The concert proceeds were used to create a prize-winning float for the 1972 Homecoming parade.

Songs and speeches marked the memorial service commemorating the birth of slain civil rights leader, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Afro-American members presented the program to elementary and high school students on NAHS and to servicemen at their chapel in Schwabach.

A gospel choir has proven to be still another outlet for club talent. Along with these activities, the members plan to organize a talent show and a spring formal.

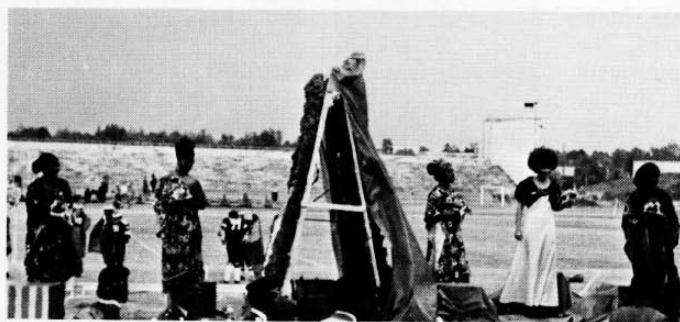

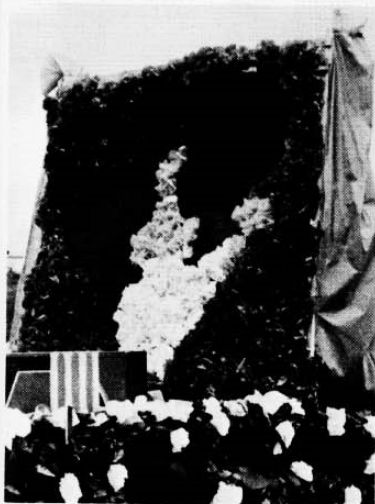

So let it be said that the first NAHS Afro-American Club is an all together scene!

"POWER CHECK!" yells Treasurer Annette Mayo.

The "Ghetto Children" (Sharon Harrington, Sparky Strother, Marlon Riggs and Gayle McKinley) strike a pose as they practice for the talent show.

Capturing a year of NAHS

It's not easy to provide the financial support, the photography, the manpower and the time to produce a single volume of one yearbook. But the 1972-73 staff has done their best to capture one school, one year, a thousand faces, a thousand scenes, and more feeling than can be expressed in words. A yearbook must be a summary of high points and low, of teachers and of students, of the common and the phenomenal. It must unify all focal points of academic life, leaving no dark corners unexplored. A yearbook is where insurmountable tasks become a daily obstacle and the impossible a reality. It spotlights on one tiny speck of eternity, a reference for those of the future.

Trichter advocates student involvement

Staff members include: (front l to r) Kevin Maloney, Sue Lampe-illustrator, Blanche Idell-Feature editor, and Patty Minton. (back row) Tim Johnson-Lay out and sports co-editor, Mrs. Mathern-sponsor, Gil Slouchick, Cindy Perry-editor, Jim Dougherty-sports co-editor, Rudy Clayton-correspondence, and Chris Music-exchange editor. Not pictured: Chris Reyes, Pat Ellis and Lizette Chevalier.

What goes into those four highly tuned, finely condensed and fun to read pages of your school paper, purchased for only 15c? Nine times each year Trichter staffers strive to meet deadlines by completing their articles. Then the Trichter evolves from under reams of ink-stained paper to the columns of glossy print which meets your eye.

The paper's original title was The Army Brat, until 1947 when Headquarters suggested that it be named after something symbolic of Nuernberg. After some history rummaging, staffers discovered that Nuernberg was a noted cultural center of the 14th century, and was said to have had culture "funneled" through the city. NAHS adopted the idea and from it comes the Trichter, (the German word for funnel) which funnels staff articles as well as unsolicited material generated by student concern, to its readers.

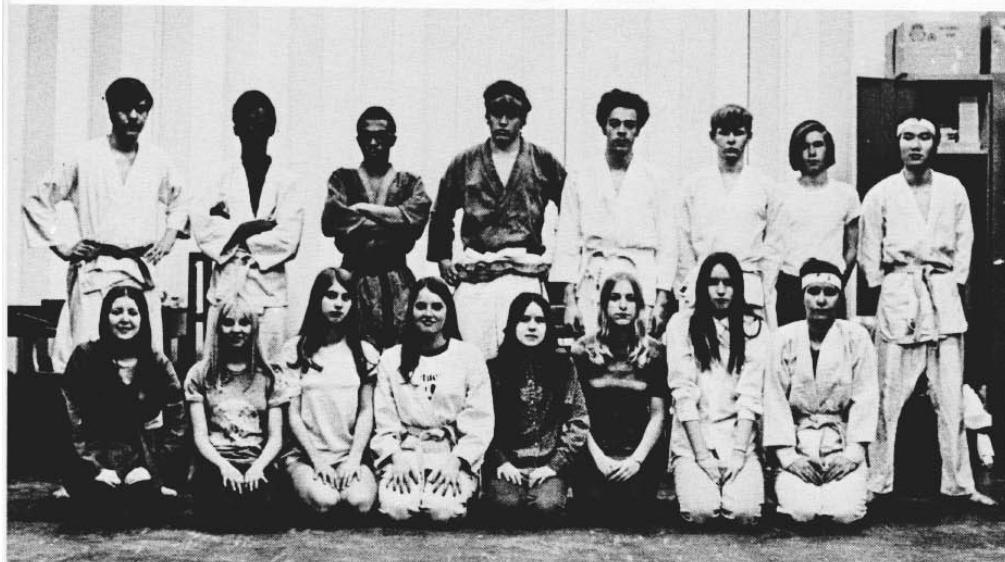

Editor Cindy Perry proclaims a better year.

Cindy Perry has Tom Otsa make some last minute corrections before putting the Trichter "to bed."

Learning and practicing the art of self-defense, members of the Karate Club began their second year at NAHS. Sessions are held each Tuesday afternoon, under the sponsorship of Mr. Lee Hunt and Mr.

Lucius Drake (a Black Belt holder). Karate enthusiasts are taught new techniques and positions by the club's two "setses" or teachers, Greg Peterson and Gil Slouchick.

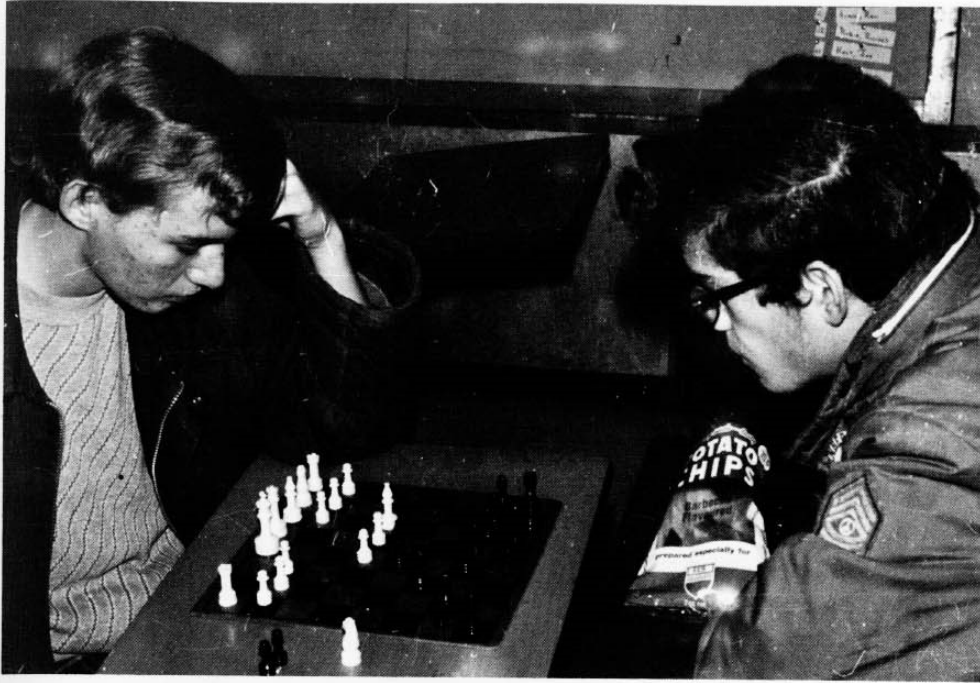

Greg Peterson shows he can take care of himself.

Everything else is forgotten as Kurt Henritz and Andre Blanchard lose themselves in their game.

Chess rage hits NAHS

Every day during lunch, under the sponsorship of Mr. Frank Bydlon, members of the Chess Club meet to match their skills in competitive games with each other.

The Chess Club held small tournaments for their members to determine club standings. Once the standings were established any member could challenge another member for his position. Mike Sutton prevailed against competition and is this year's champion.

Mr. Bydlon gazes confusedly as his opponent makes an unexpected move.

With batons poised majorettes step out

Under the critical eye of their drill master, Mrs. Trudi Nelson, the majorettes spent two afternoons per week during the football and basketball seasons exercising their twirling and marching techniques. With Patti Mara as her co-captain, Shelley Flippen lead the twirlers through their Homecoming routine. During the basketball season, under the captaincy of Michelle Hettich, the girls gave half-time performances at home basketball games.

Miss Ann Wright, formerly a member of the San Francisco Opera Company, pauses in her conducting of the Madrigals to turn the page for Carmen Kandrack.

Sing a new sound

The Madrigal Singers, a chamber choir of select voices, is under their second year of direction by Miss Ann Wright. The Singers meet weekly to rehearse music specifically written for small groups. Although madrigal songs originated in the sixteenth century the Nuernberg singers can often be heard enjoying a contemporary composition.

Colleen Campbell intently works through her lyrics.

Campus Life livens up NAHS

Mr. Walker relaxing at a Campus Life meeting? Never!

Terrible screams were heard at one Campus Life event!

"Well, that about wraps her (Jackie Walker) up!" says Albert Rispoli to Virginia Johnson.

Campus Life has been very active this year, starting off big with a 5 by 8 foot cake. Other activities included a hunt for Santa Claus and also community wide events such as the "Scream in the Dark." This haunted house project was an example of what NAHSer's can do with help and encouragement.

Campus Life is an international organization whose home office is in Wheaton, Ill. and it's European office is in Geneva, Switz. Campus Life is sponsored locally by Mr. Glen Walker and other interested adults such as parents and chapel personnel.

The purpose of Campus Life is to have fun, but it is also to strive for a balance between the physical, mental, social, and spiritual aspects of life. Much discussion is given to these subjects particularly the spiritual—how God fits into our lives—a topic not often discussed in high schools today. Discussions are a major part of many meetings, topics have ranged from cheating, to suicide, to sexual morality, to the war.

Ski bums hit the slopes!

Ski Club has its own idea of a mascot.

Beautiful Krimmel, Austria, a second home to NAHS Ski Club members.

It takes more than a team to win

The purpose of the NAHS Pep Club is to promote school spirit. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Becky Schwab, they undertook such spirit rendering activities as making all kinds of edible goodies and decorating the lockers for the football players, cross country runners, and golfers. During the basketball season, members of the Pep Club constructed "spirit cards" to cheer the team on to win. And win they did ....

"Oh, come on you guys, show some spirit!" says Jackie Walker.

"Look Doc, no cavities!"

"You see, it's this way..." says Ricky Palmer and Turan Yaduz to Cedric Hart.

"We'll trade these two buttons for one of your T-shirts," says Bill Fischlein to Charlie Hart.

Lettermen display leadership

The Nuernberg Lettermen's Club is to work in concert with the Pep Club to promote interscholastic athletics at NAHS. Among the Club's numerous functions are, the sponsoring of the three seasonal athletic banquets, the purchasing of awards for outstanding athletic achievements, and supplying items such as T-shirts, sweat-shirts, and jackets to the members at cost. The club also assists in supplying the athletic department with much needed equipment.

Cheerleaders create spirit

Throughout the year, in the stinging cold of the football games, and the heat and excitement of the basketball games and wrestling matches; a group of girls manage to survive and keep the crowds yelling. These girls are none other than the gifted NAHS Varsity and Junior-Varsity cheerleaders. The two squads were assisted by three mascots, in the forms of "Charlie Eagles". All the girls were encouraged by their sponsor, Mrs. Becky Schwab, and their captains. The Varsity Captains were Colleen Campbell, Val Williams, and later on in the year, Sharon Harrington. Sue Lampe led the Junior-Varsity through this year of cheering.

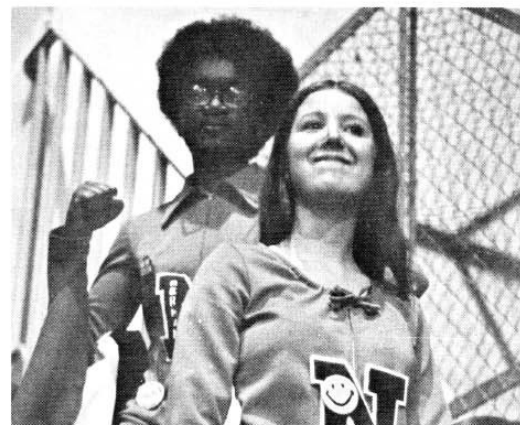

"Hold that position!" yells Cecelia McNear.

EAGLE Inspiration Sparked Homecoming

Homecoming Queen Heidi Prisk and King Dave Byrne.

Homecoming 1972, "Eagle Inspiration," culminated with excitement during Spirit Week. The Homecoming bonfire was held on Friday evening, after which last-minute touches were put on the floats. Homecoming reached a climax on October 23 at Soldier's Field. At half-time of the Varsity game the float winners were announced, with the Afro-American Club and the Class of 1973 taking first and second places respectively. Miss Black Unity and her court were presented, followed by the presentation of the Homecoming Court. The cross-country and football team victories helped create a relaxed and lively atmosphere at the Homecoming dance. "Eagle Inspiration" was an affair that will long be remembered in the annals of Nuernberg High School.

School dances keep everyone on their toes.

The Sadie Hawkins Dance is a ridiculously informal affair given annually (usually around Sadie Hawkins Day, shockingly enough ...), and sponsored by the Juniors. The girls around school obtain their fall exercise by having to pursue the male of their choice, instead of the other way around. Hillybilly-style dress, marriage and divorce booths, and good music abound. Everyone has a fun time.

"Look out guys-here we come!"

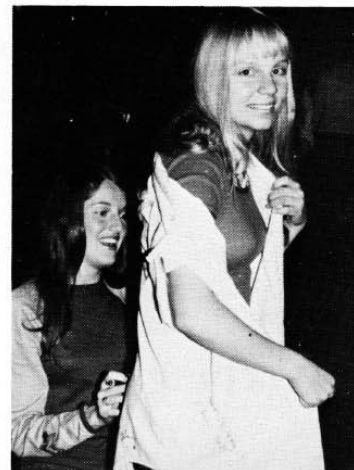

"We're all heart!"

"You did WHAT last Thursday night?!"

The 1973 Sweetheart Ball, sponsored by the Sophomores, was held on Wednesday, February 14. The evening's highlight was the presentation of the class sweethearts. The site of the dance was the Kalb Club, with music provided by the "Cherokees."

Mrs. Brandt, Linda Clark, Alan Odorico, Danny Vaughn, Shiela Meshew and Mike Snyder wait for Halloween festivities to begin.

Monday through Friday noon the dormitory hums with the activity of its 72 residents from Bindlach, Grafenwoehr, Hohenfels, Hof and Regensburg. As classes end for the week dorms board buses for a long but happy ride home to see family and friends.

The activity calendar, planned cooperatively by students and their counselors, is published monthly. Events range from roller skating parties and swimming parties to costume parties, pizza parties and a Christmas party using a ski lodge theme for decor. Residents also have the opportunity to attend rock concerts at Nuernberg concert halls. Although numerous, activities have been limited this year because of a diminished "Resident Fund."

Every two weeks students are given a Free Night Out, allowing them (after an early study hall and dinner) to stay out until 9:30 pm. to go to movies, the snack bar, or the bowling alley. Students with a 3.0 grade point average have one F.N.O. per week while students with a 3.5 have them any night.

Studying and relaxing together, sharing meals or rooms, knowing a counselor will always listen, dorm life offers a togetherness few will forget.

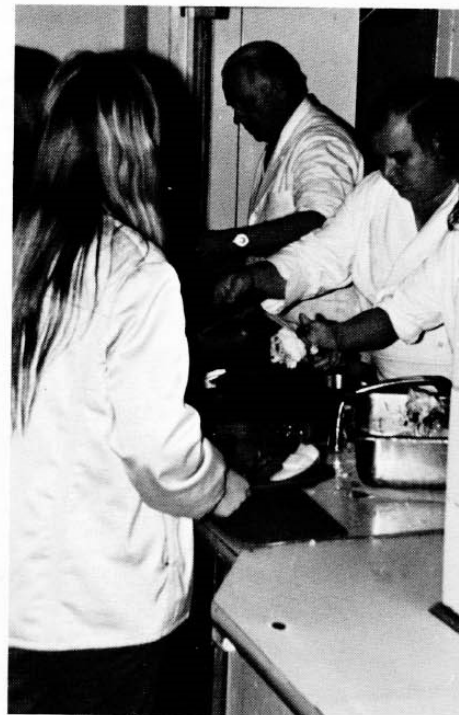

"A little relaxation doesn't hurt anyone," says Caren Fabich to Patty Pyles and Dan Snyder.

Dorm life An unforgettable experience

"I'll show you how it's done," says Steve Ward to Mike Darnell.

ATHLETICS

Nuernberg defense strikes again

"We've got the Eagle Spirit"

"All right you guys, get the lead out of your feet," says Coach Kirsch.

Eagles on defense against Mannheim.

Whomp'em Eagles!

The USDESEA All-Conference selection included Nuernberg players: (above) Joe Houston, Scott McHardy and Vic Wallace. These individuals, along with Toru Garfalo (right), were named by Stars and Stripes to the Red Division All Star Team. Toru was also selected for the Stars and Stripes All-Europe Squad. Team members receiving Senior recognition (below) are: Bill Depew, Rodney Blackman and Terry Posey.

There were victories. . .

Despite youth and inexperience, head-coach Lee Kirsch and his assistants George Sibold and Col. Frank Webster, helped the Varsity Eagles come on strong with some impressive victories to take a second place tie in the Red Division this year.

It was a young team that placed freshmen Hayward Harris and Howard Fields on the field in starting position.

It was an inexperienced team with only three senior players, Rodney Blackman, Bill Depew, and Terry Posey, that went on to dish up for the Bisons of Mannheim an impressive 28-6 drubbing and gave the Eagle fans their second consecutive homecoming victory.

and there were defeats. . .

at the hands of Berlin, Bitburg, Frankfurt and Heidelberg. But a bit of determination and hard playing saw the Eagles fight back to tie the Augsburg team to end the season.

yet there was recognition. . .

for Vic Wallace, Joe Houston, and Scott McHardy were named to the USDESEA All-Conference team of 1972.

JV Eagles have done it again!

As a result of their 4-0 conference record the JV team, coached by Tom Gussner, Bill Dydell and Paul Watkins, became the USDESEA Red Division Champs; the second time in three years. The season's record was 5-1.

Team managers were Randy Glenn and Tom Whiteman. The season's longest single gain was on a 75 yard pass-interception by Melvin Bivens.

Jerry Harmon threw 3 touchdown passes. Howard Fields scored 6 TD's and Ron Ferris ran 3 TD's before both men became varsity players. Mike Hebert scored 5 TD's while Ricky Smith made 3.

Only 6 points were scored against the Eagle defensive line (Rob Hueber, Artis Hicks, Patty Baier, Ron Simons, and Fred Longmire) during conference games.

The linebackers were Mark Bryant, Mike Houston, Bob Brown, and Ron Ferris. Safeties were Melvin Bivens and Keith Gregory.

The offensive line included tackles Bob Brown, and Gary Serino; guards Brown, Bryant, and Houston; and center was Rick Graham.

Fred Childers, Andy Hardeman, Bob Hueber, Eric Smith, Steve Ward and Mark Wass sustained injuries this season.

Coach Gussner felt that the season's highlight had to be the 12-6 victory over Hiedlberg, "but I'm sure that the team also felt great about defeating the Wurzberg Varsity 16-14."

Golfers putter and sputter

Janina Jeter

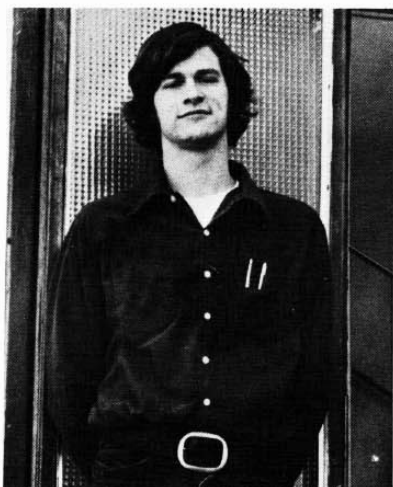

Bryan Harp

A determined but young and inexperienced golf team represented Nuernberg American High this year. Members of Coach Cal Cornell's Varsity team were Ted Seaman, Dave Kmiotek, Dave Byrne, Rick Byrne, Janina Jeter, and Cay Campbell. Bryan Harp was the J-V golfer. The men played an eighteen hole game while Cay and Janina played only nine holes.

The Eagles had their best match against Augsburg, winning by five strokes. For 18 holes Kmiotek shot a low 82 while Seaman followed with 91 and the Byrne brothers tied for 102. Leading the team in regular competition Kmiotek and Seaman often shared third and fourth places against NAHS opposition. At the fall Regionals Kmiotek and Seaman tied for ninth place, both shooting a 187 for 36 holes. Also representing NAHS at the Regionals were Janina Jeter and Cay Campbell.

Cross-country runners do it for Eagles

The first prerequisite to being a cross-country runner is that you have to be completely insane. How else can you justify running 2.7 miles over hill and dale, through rain, wind and mud, only to come across a finishing line devoid of all spectators (with the exception of the coaches, who secretly wish they were at the football game with everybody else), and be handed an ice cream stick that's already been half eaten? There's just no other explanation.

This year's cross-country team sustained with flying colors its ancient and hallowed traditions of eccentricity and anonymity. However, one tradition that was broken this year was that of losing.

Under the leadership of their coach, Mr. Richard Cardner, and assistant coach, Chaplain Stan Gerstein, these sweat-suited knights of the countryside, these unsung (but not unsinging) heroes of NAHS, ran forth to achieve the most impressive cross-country record in Nuernberg's history. They finished the season with a record of four wins and two losses. At the Southern Regionals, at Heidelberg, the Varsity squad placed second of eight teams, while the J-V runners placed second of four teams. The entire Varsity team went to the Finals, at Stuttgart, and placed seventh out of eleven.

Team captain Ken Tinsman broke his course record of last year with a time of 14.25, only to have that record broken by co-captain Bob Garven, who ran the course in a time of 14.19 (in practice).

These are truly men to give one pause.

"I got ONE." (Bob Garven)

"Another one for us ... or is it? (Jim Simpkins)

Improvement of the individual was the goal of the 1972-73 wrestling team. Team spirit generated by Coaches Ray Brinzer and Manny Raab and co-captains Mike Houston and Charlie Hart helped the Eagles realize their goals.

Best season's record is held by the team's lone senior, Bill Depew who won eight of ten matches placing fourth in Southern Regionals. Randy Peterson, winning seven of nine matches placed second at Regionals and sixth at Finals for the best total record. Also placing at Regionals was Mike Houston in third place (going on to Finals). Randy Glenn and Vic Wallace placed fourth in their respective weight classes.

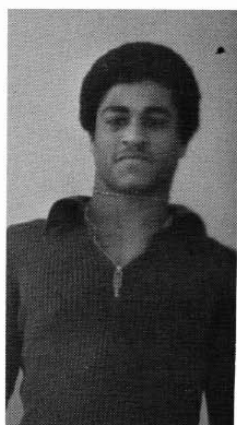

The best Varsity team showing this season was against Munich.

Eagles battle on the court

The mighty Eagles (l to r) are: Bob Brown, Dieter Bednarski, Sam Buster, Calvin Palmer, Joe Houston, Scott McHardy, Bob Crosby, Issac Sapp, Joe Gilmore, Warren Strother, Melvin Bivens, and Jerry Harmon. The two managers (sitting) are: Ken Cannon and Pat Ward.

Coach Gussner signals to his team.

Sink it Bob, sink it!

Put it in, Dieter!

Did Melvin make it?

Nuernberg's 1972-73 Varsity Basketball team was shorter and younger than any team in USDESEA. With these disadvantages the team was held to a 1-13 season.

Yet the season had its highlights with a number of outstanding individual performances. Bob Crosby, the team's only senior, holds the team's field goal accuracy record at 45%. Sam Buster led the team in scoring with 68 total goals (162 total points) with an average of 11.6 points per game. In second place is Joe Houston with 48 field goals. Scoring 26 points against Karlsruhe, Buster also holds the team's record for the highest number of points scored in one game. Scoring the second highest number of points in a single game, with 17, is Issac Sapp. Dieter Bednarski, scoring an average of 10.8 points per game, led the team at the foul line with an accuracy record of 77%.

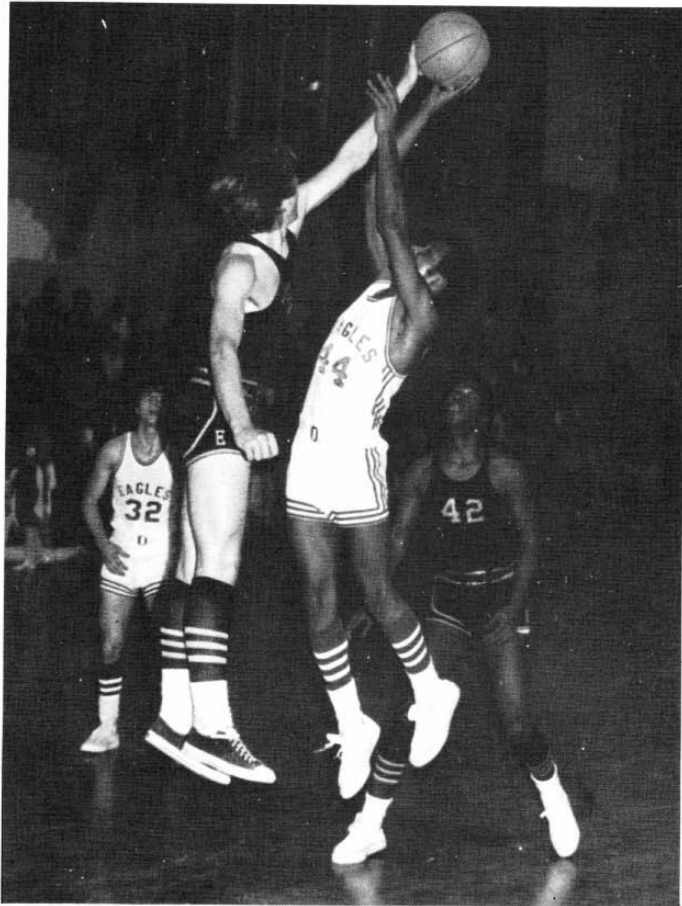

Another team record is held by Joe Houston who led the team in rebounding with 94. Closely following Houston is Calvin Palmer with 92 rebounds for the season.

Other players were juniors Sparky Strother (who moved up to number six by season's end), Bob Brown, Joe Gilmore, and Jerry Harmon; sophomores Scott McHardy (considered the season's most improved player) and Melvin Bivens.

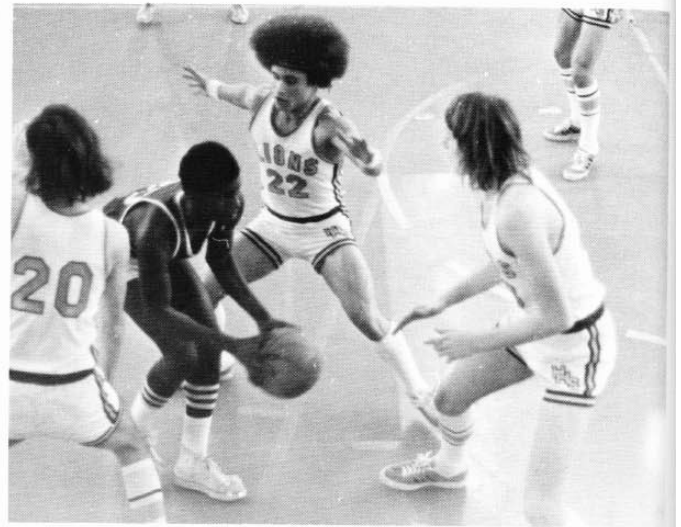

Coach Tom Gussner's analysis of the season was to the point. "Although the average Nuernberg player gave up three inches to his opponent each time he stepped on to the court, we were very pleased by the desire, teamwork, and hustle displayed by our players."

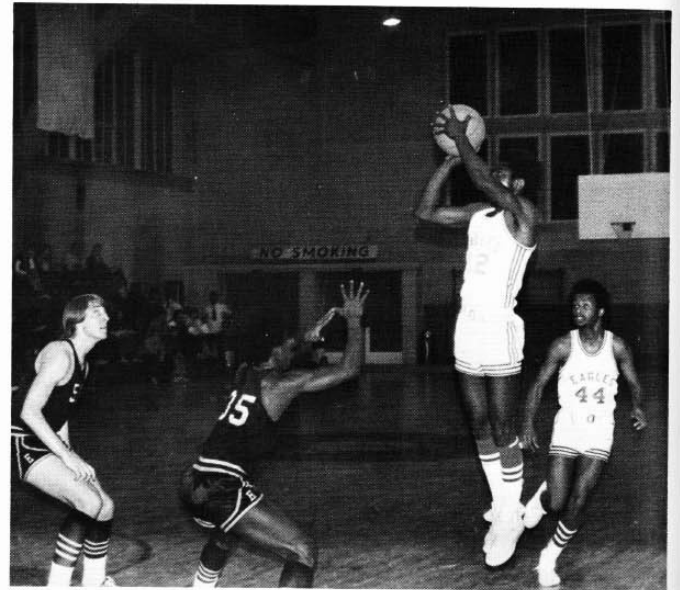

Joe says, "Alone again, naturally!"

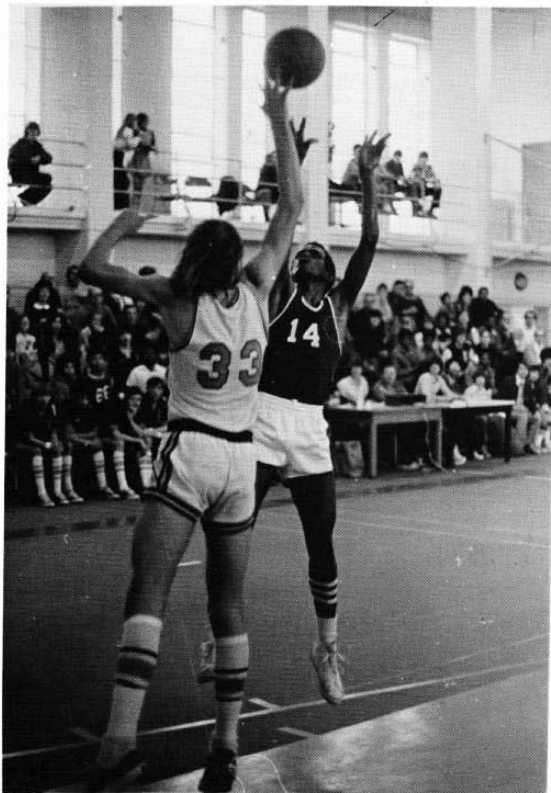

"Tip it to an Eagle."

Calvin Palmer in a Lion's Den!

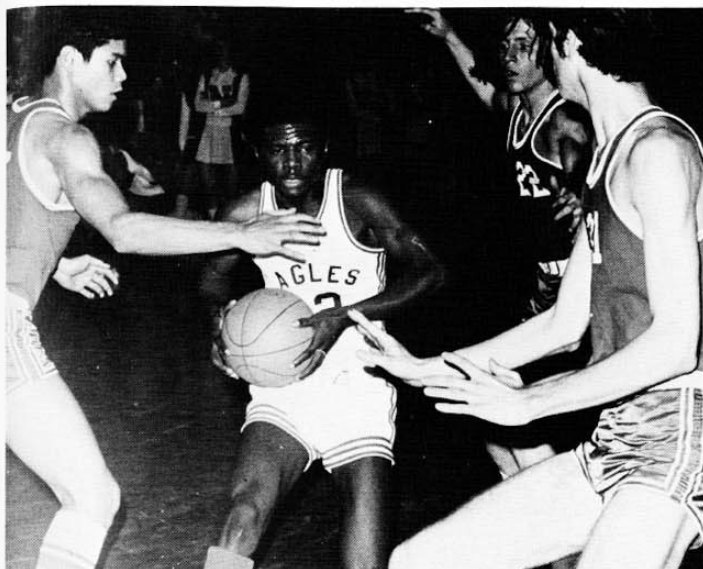

Sam Buster makes an attempt for two points.

"This one's mine", says Joe Houston.

Getting off to a cool start the Junior Varsity Eagles soared to a hot finish by winning the last three games of their season. Their best games of this season were against Mannheim, Bitburg, Heidelberg, and Freiberg (a non-conference game with a host nation team).

The team was led by Captain Peter Williams and his co-captain, Don Behrman. Also his team's high scorer, Peter "Gun" Williams led his teammates by scoring 30 points in his best game. The usual starting five were Don Behrman, David Markl, Ricky Palmer, Tony Thrasher, and Peter Williams. Coaching the Junior Varsity this year (his first at Nuernberg) was Mr. Lucius Drake.

Administrative Staff expands

The aware, helpful, and cooperative attitude of the students and staff of NAHS, feels the administration, is the school's most significant asset.

Mr. Steve Collins, principal, and Mr. Fred Fulkerson, deputy principal, who share the administrative duties of the school, are assisted this year by assistant principal, Mr. Chuck Recesso. Mr. Recesso, who became a member of the administrative staff this year because of the increased student enrollment, is responsible for student Spartanism and the organization of the athletic program. Assisting also in the administration of the school is Mr. Ken Coffman of the junior high staff.

A major concern of the 1972-73 administration is that of curriculum revision and improvement to meet the needs of today's students who will populate tomorrow's world.

Dorm counselors hear 'em out

To get young people to trust them is one of the dormitory counselor's most immediate tasks. Counselors in the true sense of the word, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Brandt, Miss Bonnie Bonnaviat and Mr. Tim Irons help students learn to cope with their problems. They work together with Miss Lynne Holland, dormitory supervisor, to establish, in as far as possible, a favorable atmosphere which will encourage the emotional and intellectual growth of their students. To do this, according to Mr. Irons, "we do a little bit of everything."

Bonnie Bonnaviat knowingly asks, "Isn't that the same excuse you gave me last week?"

Mrs. Susan Brandt and Mr. Tim Irons, while chaperoning dormitory students at the Kristkindlesmarkt, take time for a bratwurst.

Understanding ...

Understanding is the key word in portraying the role of a Guidance Counselor, also known as Pupil Personnel Service, they must be able to make self-sacrifices in order to help ...

Patience is also an essential key word. One must have the patience to help him make it through the day, and to try to help a student learn to come to his or her own decision ...

Lee A. Kirsch, Work Experience Co-ordinator, lectures at a work Study meeting.

is the Key Word

They must also be concerned for the students. Concerned for the students who are ill, or the reason behind the "skippers", or concerned enough to help decide the right job ...

Instructional materials complement the classroom

"X-E-N-O-P-H-O-B-I-A?" query librarians Mrs. Clara Lynne Vandi Hei and Mrs. Doris Jones-Smith.

Due to increased enrollment NAHS now has two librarians, a library clerk and an A-V coordinator. Mrs. Vande Hei and Mrs. Smith, aided by Mrs. Evelyn Roberts and student library assistants, have rearranged the library in an attempt to provide better space utilization and service. Also new this year is an arrangement that enables students to obtain research material from any Special Services library.

Mr. Tom Gussner, supervising the repair and delivery of films and A-V equipment, has trained a number of students to aid him. Mr. Gussner's teaching responsibilities include junior high health classes and a senior high course in cinematics, which is new to the curriculum this year.

PE provides physical exercise

Keeping in shape is just one of the goals for the physical education department. Mr. Campbell and Mr. Nelms hustle the fellows through physical exercises, while Mrs. Smith, Miss Gallant and Mrs. Schwab keep the girls physically fit. Activities during the year include volleyball, basketball, swimming, bowling and gymnastics.

Mr. Ray Brinzer makes a point.

Teacher-student linkage is a main concern to Mr. Lee Hunt.

The main objective of the English department is to meet the basic needs of people, communication and understanding, through the establishment of a good student-teacher relationship. Their goal is to turn each classroom situation into a place where the student can work more comfortably and efficiently, in order to be able to achieve his maximum potential in the fields of reading, writing, and speaking. The courses, nine weeks in length, are devised to be both exciting and beneficial and range from poetry and humanistic English to elements of discussion and science fiction. This year a survey communicates student interests to teachers which aids in determining the English courses instructors will offer.

The changing world of Social Studies

"Hi there! My name is Mrs. Norine Mathern. I just got back from running off some tests for my first period class, which consists of six students."

"Right again." (Miss Mary Boerschinger)

"If you kids could only understand the importance of ...!" (Mr. Emanuel Raab)

"All right, who's the artist?" (Mr. Larry Mathern)

"I didn't think I made the test that hard!" (Miss JoAnn Johnson)

"There are five million 'Wimpy' stands in our world ...." (Mr. Patrick Slattery)

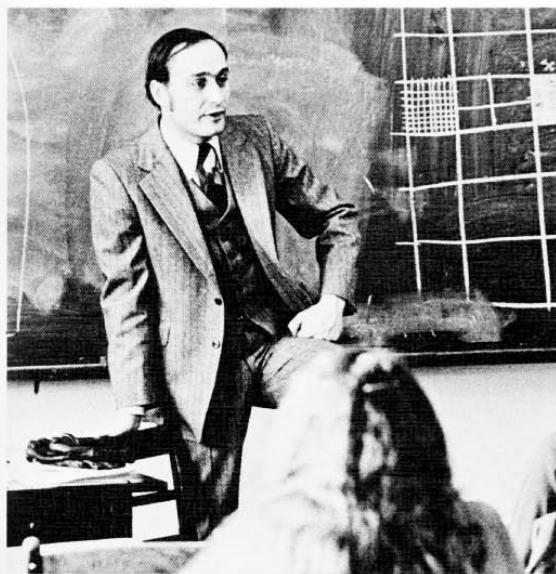

A major objective of the social studies department is to teach students to think for themselves. This means that students make decisions which are based upon their own understandings of themselves and their environment. Cooperation, a practical understanding of democratic principles, and individual social studies skills are also taught.

Some teachers strive towards an individualized program of learning for students. Thus, a situation in which the social studies teacher serves as a guide and not just a lecturer, has been established to encourage students to seek out and present material themselves.

New social studies courses offered this year include Mr. Mantel's Urban Problems, a study of people in the urban setting, and Miss Boerschinger's Sociology class, a study of social problems and of people as a society.

NAHS has its own "Atlas"; Mr. Tony Grana.

"I don't know, what do you think?" (Mr. Ed Mantel)

Wait until Mrs. Trudy Terla tells about the little one that got away....

Mrs. Nita Adams tries to untangle the problems of the world.

"You kids have this all wrong, you're supposed to stand in the corner!" (Mr. William Yost)

Dabbling in digits

"I think I'll make this test really hard."
(Mrs. Marcella Slattery)

The NAHS math department aims to fulfill the current and future mathematical needs of students. One objective is to provide a well-rounded introduction of fundamental concepts of numbers, numeration, variables, open sentences, algebraic symbolism, geometric language and properties and all general properties of real number systems—real and imaginary.

Two new courses (Consumer Math and Calculas) have been added to meet the current needs of students. Students in Miss Matthees' Consumer Math class are learning to do such practical things as price comparisons by visiting EES stores and checking prices and portions. Other new courses will be developed as needs are determined.

Miss Bette Matthees finds her lost exam.

"This is only the beginning." (Mr. Marv Wilson)

"Say 'Hi' to an old friend." (Mr. Clinton Mowery)

NAHS students discover Science

The NAHS science department is geared toward an investigational type of study, intended to stimulate student participation and interest. One of the main objectives focuses upon the acquiring of principles, concepts, and facts through which the scientifically oriented individual can better understand and appreciate the nature of the earth, its inhabitants and the universe. Science courses offered range from ISCS (Intermediate Science Curriculum Study) to 12th grade physics. Human Biology, a new course, teaches a basic understanding of the individual's body structure and its functions. As the instructors deem necessary, other new courses will be developed.

"That cap will pop off any moment now!" (Mr. William Mahanna)

An error is pointed out by Mr. Laverne Adams.

"Where does it say that frogs fly?" (Mr. Calvin Cornell)

"Watch this tube closely!" (Mr. Glen Walker)

"I have a surprise for you today," says Miss Virginia Hill.

Speak another tongue

An international flair is lent to NAHS by the foreign language teachers. Herr Koschau and Miss Hill try to teach students the native language of the host country.

For those wanting help on other foreign accents the students are given the French or Spanish touch by Mrs. Vieira and Miss Kellock.

Mrs. Victoria Vieira points out materials to Chuck Keen for his exam.

The NAHS host nation teacher Herr Werner Koschau helps Cindy Perry with her German grammar.

Time for a smile break! (Miss Janet Kellock)

Miss Hill give a glare to one of the students in German I.

Mr. Cal Mahin helps Shari Goldberg on an art project.

Esthetics create awareness

Creativity seems to flow through NAHS this year. Guided by Mr. Serino, Mr. Mahin, or Mrs. Adams, novice artists displayed their works throughout the school.

Musical notes also drifted through the air. Madrigal director, Miss Wright and Chorus and Band director, Mr. Hajicek, worked to keep their musicians in tune.

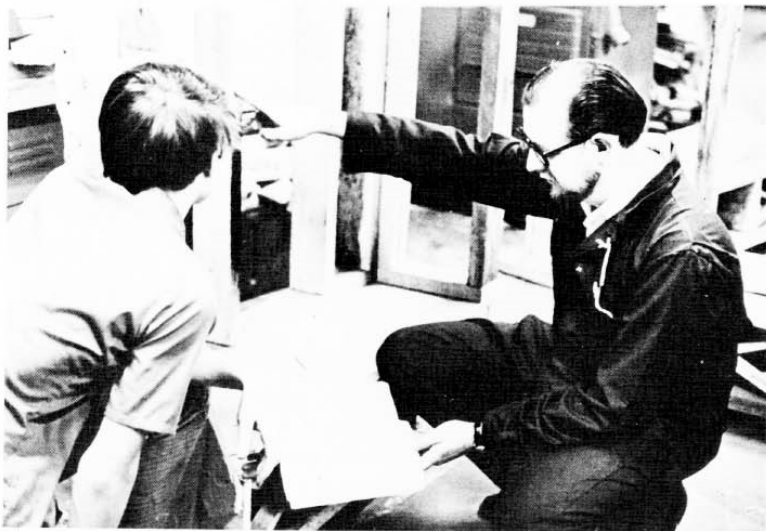

Miss Ann Wright teaches one of her three junior high English classes.

Frank Hajicek and the NAHS Chorus perform during the Christmas concert.

"You can do better than that," says Mr. Joe Serino.

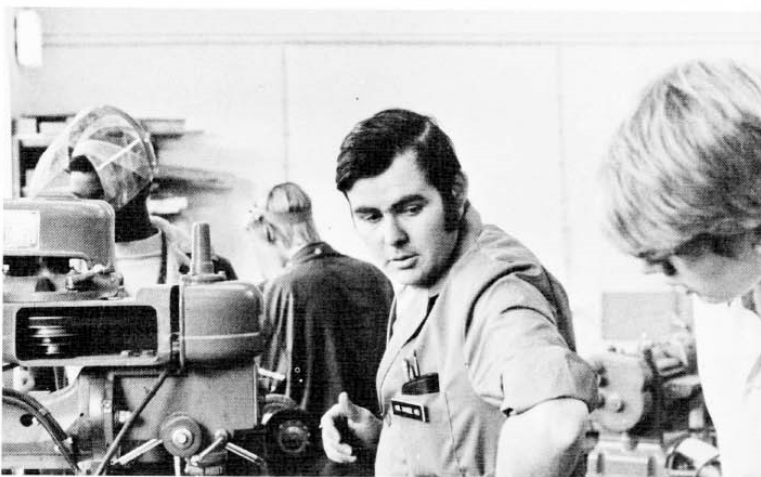

"According to the drawing this beam shouldn't be here." (Mr. Piazzoni)

Practicality is the key word

"How do you expect me to correct your work when you used invisible ink?" (Mr. Edsall)

"Did you turn on the switch? That may help." (Mr. Vande Hei)

"A couple of hard whacks ought to fix it!" (Mr. Toula)

What is it they say about people who talk to themselves? (Miss Dingmann)

"... a door so people can get in and out?" (Mr. Mathern)

"You had $200, spent $300 and still have $100?" (Miss Melby)

"Hmm...how would orange curtains go with purple walls?" (Mrs. Ellis)

Cookie crumbs remind Miss Palmer that the cookie bakers were here.

"Well! If you don't type I won't put stars on your paper!" (Miss Irving)

Practicality is just what the Practical Arts Department has been stressing this year. To develop saleable skills and skills needed for transacting daily affairs are the major goals of the department.

Since the departure of Mr. Gary Edsall, Mr. Larry Mathern has been teaching mechanical and architectural drawing. Mr. Roland Piazzoni's "World of Construction" is a new example of practicality at NAHS this year. Students learn all the major aspects of building construction. Mr. Wilson Toula, taking Mr. Larry Burner's position, teaches students electrical and auto mechanical skills. Photography has now been added as an option to Mr. Don Vand Hei's industrial arts class.

Business teachers, Miss Naomi Melby, Miss Joan Dingmann, and Miss Kathy Irving, help students gain proficiency in typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and business techniques.

Mrs. Kay Ellis and Miss Anita Palmer "think practical" by offering courses in home economic fundamentals, co-ed foods and child care.

The 747 People

Pan Am pilots, stewardesses and ground crews were the first to fly and service the 747. That's why we call ourselves "the 747 people". In fact, Pan Am flies more 747s to more cities in the world than any other airline. That's experience — the kind of experience that you benefit from when you fly with us.
